VILLAGE RESORT

How it works...

When you convert your existing timeshare and join RCI Points, your holiday week is assigned a Point Value. The Point value is the number of Points that you are allocated each Use Year to exchange for holidays which is determined by a range of factors, such as:

- Supply and demand at that resort
- The type of unit you own
- The season in which you own
- Evaluations from members who have stayed there

Here's an overview of how RCI Points works:

See what our RCI Points members have to say about their membership benefits

"I find the Points membership a lot easier to use, especially with access to RCI.com and the flexibility that Points offers. I can see at a glance what my Points allocation is for the year and what holidays are available."

Lynne, Shoalwater, WA

"I love the flexibility of points - it means I don't feel our timeshare ownership is just restricted to booking one week holidays at timeshare resorts. I think the biggest bonus is that some resorts let you book 3 or 4 nights."

Veronica, Monash, Vic
